GEN. CARRANZA AND STAFF SAID TO HAVE BEEN MURDERED

Official Announcement is Made in Mexico City of The Murder of Deposed President

KILLED THURSDAY MORNING.

General Herrera, Officer of His Own
Guard, is Said to Have Directed
The Attack

VICTIMS NOT IDENTIFIED

Reported to Include Minister of Treasury And Other Officials—
Preparations For Burial

Mexico City, May 22—President Venustiano Carranza, who, with a small party of followers, had been a fugitive in the mountains of Puebla since last week, was killed at Tlaxcalatongo early Thursday morning, according to official announcement here. His companions, the names of whom are not known, also were killed.

General Rodolfo Herrera, it is said, directed the attack that resulted in the death of the fugitive president and his followers. He belonged to forces commanded by General Francisco de P. Mariel, who accompanied Carranza in his flight from this city, but who last week deserted Carranza and joined the revolutionists.

There is some uncertainty regarding the exact affiliation of General Herrera. It is generally believed possible, however, that he commanded a small guard which was with the fleeing president. He was in rebellion against Carranza for several years, entering his operations in the state of Puebla. He surrendered last March to General Mariel, who was in command of government forces in that state.

When General Mariel went over to the revolutionists last week a part of his troops, it is known, remained loyal to the president, and the belief exists that Carranza might have taken along with him in his flight toward Tuxpam's Herrera's forces, which finally turned against him.

Tlaxcalatongo is a small village in the vicinity of Huachichingo, in the northern "panhandle" of the state of Puebla. It is approximately eighty-five miles from San Andres, where Carranza left his forces and took refuge in the mountains. The official announcement was given at 10:30 o'clock last night from the headquarters of General Alvaro Obregon.

Reports received here today state that General Juan Barragan, chief of the presidential staff; Ygnacio Bonillas, former Mexican ambassador at Washington; General Marciano Gonzales and General Federico Montes, who accompanied President Carranza in his flight from San Andres, are safe. No mention is made of the others in the party which, it is believed, included Luis Cabrera, minister of the treasury; Alfonso Cabera, his brother, Governor of Puebla and General Francisco Murguira, who acted as commander of the Carranza troops after the president had fled from this city.

Orders have been given that a train be taken to Bistain, the nearest railway point to Tlaxcalatongo to receive the bodies of those killed in the encounter in which President Carranza lost his life.

PHILLIPS WINS MILE- EQUALS STATE RECORD

Herman Phillips, local high school student, who took part in the state track meeting at Lafayette, Ind., won the mile run this afternoon, making the time in 4.42 and two-fifths of a second, equalling the state record made in a former meeting at Trotter of North Salem, Ind., made the record, and the Rushville athlete today attempted to set a new record but tied with Trotter.

John Davis, the other Rushville student, who entered in the high jump, did not qualify as an entrant.

Must Disavow The Murder Of Carranza

Obregon Must Punish Slayer of Deposed Mexican President if he Expects Recognition by United States.

(By United Press.)

Washington, May 22—Disavowal of the murder of General Carranza and punishment of his slayer may be required of Obregon by the United States before this country will consider the recognition of the new regime, it was stated at the state department today.

President Wilson refused to recognize Huerta with "blood on his hands."

The situation was further complicated today by reports that Villa has captured Captain Miller, a British citizen, and is holding him for a $50,000 ransom.

The state department is entirely without reports on the murder of Carranza as advised from Mexico City vary. According to a Mexico City press notice Carranza was still in the mountains near Zacatlan where the president was reported to have been killed.

A quorum of chamber of deputies met Thursday and elected one Obregon and two Gonzales deputies as presiding and assisting officers of the congress session next Monday.

FARMERS PLANNED TO WORK

Many Expected to Spend Sunday in Field But Rain Threatens

Many farmers who had planned to spend Sunday working will undoubtedly be disappointed because the weather prediction today is for thunder showers tonight and tomorrow.

Scores of farmers, expecting the nice weather of the last few days to continue, were preparing today not to stop for Sunday, because spring farm work is so far behind. Many are still planting corn, which should have all been in the ground some time ago. The temperature set a new mark for this spring today, and this afternoon the skies indicated that the weather prediction would come true.

Gain of 13

County school superintendent C. M. George has completed his record concerning the county school enumeration, which shows that there are 4,492 children of school age in Rush county, 3,719 of which were attending schools on May first of this year.

The report shows that the Rushville city schools made a net gain of one since the report of last year, while the schools outside of this city, showed a decrease of 59, a net loss for the county of 58.

Posey township showed the greatest loss, with 26 fewer pupils, and Union made the greatest gain, with 13 more pupils.

The total number of school children in the township schools on May first was 3,292, and in Rushville city 1,230. Of this number there were 126 colored children in the county of school age.

The report shows further that there are 758 school children in the county that are between the ages of 14 and 16. Of the total number of children in the county of school age, 723 are not in school because they are listed as being regularly employed; some of these have graduated, as the school age is placed at 21 years.

Of the total number there are only 50 who are not employed, either being ill, or kept from school for some other reason.

Another interesting feature of the report is that the boys and girls are almost equal in number, their being 1,852 boys in school and 1,667 girls.

WORKMAN KILLED AT CARTHAGE PAPER MILL

Fred Schierbaum, Age 45, Fatally
Injured While Working on Stock
Carrier Brother Started

BODY JAMMED AGAINST WALL

Fred Schierbaum, age forty-five years, a mill wright at the Carthage paper plant, was fatally injured yesterday evening about five o'clock on an overhead stock carrier and died fifteen minutes later. It was the victim's brother, Taylor Schierbaum, who was working in the next room out of view of Fred, that started the carrier and caused the accident.

Fred was working on the carrier in a beater room. The carrier operates between two beater rooms, passing from one room to the other through a hole about fifteen inches square in the brick wall partition. Schierbaum was working on the carrier and was caught in the chain when his brother started it. His body was jammed up against the brick wall, the hole in the wall not being large enough for it to pass through. His head and chest were crushed and it was apparent from the first that he could not live.

Schierbaum moved to Carthage from Mt. Vernon more than three years ago. He is survived by the widow and four little girls.

SHORTAGE WORSE THAN DURING WAR

Public Service Commission Decides Today. Something Must be Done in Coal Car Situation

OPERATORS ARE CALLED.

Will Meet With Rail Superintendents
Thursday—Shortage Amounts to 60 Percent

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis Ind., May 22—Drastic action must be taken immediately to relieve the coal car shortage in Indiana, members of the public service commission agreed today at a conference to devise means by which to overcome the situation.

Invitations were sent to three or four representative coal operators and the superintendents of coal carrying railroads in the state asking them to attend the conference with the commission next Thursday to learn how serious the shortage is.

"We want to get 'a low down' on the situation so far as diversion of the coal car, production of coal and the plight of public utilities is concerned," said E. I. Lewis, of the commission.

"There is only loosely gathered information and we want a solid basis on which to work."

The commission has sent appeals to the interstate commerce commission asking for relief. They are now awaiting word from the last one they sent.

With a majority of the mines in Indiana able to put out coal to supply the state, they are idle because of the shortage of coal cars.

The shortage at this time amounts to 60 percent while the greatest shortage ever felt in the state was 30 percent during the war.

ORDERS A PROBE OF BERGDOLL'S ESCAPE

Secretary of War Baker Says He Did Not Know Draft Evader
Was to Leave Prison

FINDS IT WAS AUTHORIZED.

(By United Press.)

Washington, May 22—Secretary of war Baker today ordered "an immediate and thorough investigation" of the escape of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, wealthy convicted army deserter.

He also urged that every effort be made to capture Bergdoll, who escaped yesterday from federal authorities in Philadelphia.

Baker stated that he did not know that Bergdoll was to be brought to Philadelphia and that he had left the federal prison. "The escape was bought to my attention shortly after it occurred by General Harriss, the adjutant general. I was informed that General Ansell and Col. Gailey some days ago reported to the adjutant general that Bergdoll had secretly laid some money away at a place known only by himself, and that some day they would accompany Bergdoll to that place to get the money."

"This arrangement was authorized by the adjutant general under authorities at Governors Island," it was said.

ACADEMY TO HONOR 50TH ANNIVERSARY

Special Anniversary Service Will be Held by Spiceland Institution
During Commencement Week

CLASSES TO STAGE PAGEANT

Regular Commencement Exercises
Will be Held Wednesday at 10:30
A. M.—Field Day May 25

Commencing Sunday, will take place the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of Spiceland academy. Some years prior to 1870, commencing as early as 1826, the Friends established a school near Spiceland. Then in 1870, under the laws of the state, Spiceland academy was incorporated by the Spiceland monthly meeting of Friends. During the earlier periods all grades of school were taught under the auspices of Friends. In 1870 the first class graduated under the present charter.

During the last fifty years the school has stood high in secondary education not only in Henry county but in the state. At one time an excellent normal course was given at the academy and many teachers in this part of the state got their early training here. During the more recent years the academy has limited itself to the work of the public high school and at present does all the high school work for Spiceland township.

During the past year an endowment campaign has been carried on which will enable the trustees of the academy continue a first class secondary school and in the near future build a dormitory to care for students from away.

On Sunday morning May 23, at 10 o'clock, special anniversary services will be held at Spiceland, in charge of Rev. Roy Wollam. In the evening at 8 o'clock will occur the baccalaureate address for the present graduating class. This address will be delivered by Rev. Clarence Ridenbaugh, pastor of the Irvington Christian Church. Rev. Ridenbaugh is a minister of rare experience and an excellent address is anticipated. On Monday morning, May 24, will occur the meeting of classes and old students at the academy grounds. This is primarily a get-together meeting for those who have attended the academy in earlier days. A basket dinner will be served on the grounds.

At 1:30 o'clock will occur the fiftieth anniversary celebration proper. The celebration will be in the form of a pageant and stunts put on by groups from different classes. The classes from 1870 to 1880 represent the early history of the school and portray the ideals that were in the minds of the older Friends who started the school. This group will also reproduce a monthly meeting of early date and solemnize a Quaker wedding under the direction of the church. This group is in charge of Henry Painter, a member of the class of '72. The second group, in charge of Oliver Steele, a member of the class of 1885, will portray the school as it thrived under the direction of Clarkson and Hannah Davis.

The next group, in charge of Minnie Stratton Stafford, 1890 to 1890, will furnish a miscellaneous entertainment. The period from 1900 to 1905 will be in charge of Ruth Harvey, a member of the class of 1901 and will illustrate Spiceland academy as a great coffee mill. The period from 1905 to 1910 is in charge of Myron Painter and again have a miscellaneous entertainment. The period from 1910 to 1915 will be in charge of Mary Jessup Smith and will represent the junior Spiceland academy.

The last period, 1915 to 1920, will be in charge of Ruth Holloway Painter, a member of the class of 1916, and they will give a musical show. After the program there will be responses from old students from away. The day night, May 24, at 8 o'clock, the present students of Spiceland academy will give an entertainment for the visiting alumni and some of the community. The entertainment will consist of a play and a musical show. This program will be continued tomorrow.

WINS RECOGNITION AS VOCALIST IN NEW YORK

Miss Charlotte Norris Receives Special Merit in Article Regarding Concert

IS A STUDENT OF VOICE

That Miss Charlotte Norris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Norris of this city, is winning recognition as a vocalist, although she has been singing in New York City only since January, is indicated by an article in the April number of the Musical Courier of New York, in which she received special mention.

Miss Norris is a student of voice in the New York School of Music and Arts, of which Ralph Leach Sterner is a director. Miss Norris' natural talent was early recognized and she was placed directly under the head of the voice department instead of being trained by an assistant.

The Musical Courier speaks as follows of a recent concert: "Of interest was the 489 concert given March 25 by the pupils of the vocal and piano departments of the New York School of Music and Art. Ralph Leach Sterner, director, deserves credit for the progress made by his talented pupils and the program was enjoyed by an appreciative audience."

Among those receiving special mention was Miss Norris, and concerning her part in the concert, the article spoke as follows: "The pleasing quality of Charlotte Norris' voice was heard to advantage in 'I Know a Lovely Garden' (D. Hande), 'Prelude,' and 'Down in the Forest,' Ronald."

WINNERS IN POSTER CONTEST ANNOUNCED

Emerson Headlee is Given First Prize and Kathryn Blount Second in Art Class Competition

EIGHTEEN TRY FOR AWARD

Prize winners were announced today in the poster contest for the pupils of the art department of the high school, Emerson Headlee winning first and Kathryn Blount second. Eighteen pupils took part in the contest.

Prizes amounting to $10 in cash or $15 in merchandise were offered by Pitman and Wilson, to be divided among the first six contestants receiving the highest grades. In addition to first and second prize winners, the other four were Dorothy Wheeler third, Norma Headlee fourth, Oliver Carmel fifth and Stella Offutt sixth. Those given honorable mention by the judges were Margaret Herkless, Helen Pierson, Reade Casady, Churchill Allen and Laura Jordan.

The judges were Paul Allen, Mrs. Walter Hubbard and Denning Havens. They based their awards on three points—the value of the poster as an advertisement, the illustration and the lettering. The posters are on display in the window of George C. Wyatt and company.

School officials are elated over the results of the contest and the fact that local merchants show enough interest in high school pupils to offer prizes to arouse competition.

Insurgent Republicans Abandon Plan for Consideration of Appropriation Bill in Senate

ITS DEFEAT WAS CERTAIN

(By United Press.)

Washington, May 22—Deserted by some of their own forces, the insurgent republican senators were out-manuevered today in a fight to have congress stay in session until they enact legislation to bring down living costs.

Senator Kenyon abandoned the plan to take the consideration of his living cost appropriation bill to the floor of the senate.

Some senators had informed him that they would vote against the bill although they favored it, and for that reason a test vote would not show the full strength of those who favored the bill, Kenyon stated.

The Memorial Day services will take place in the court room of the courthouse the following day and the address will be delivered by the Rev. J. D. Brown of the Main Street Christian church.

A Woman on The School Board

For some time past sentiment has been crystallizing in favor of the appointment of a woman on the Rushville school board. It recently took form in the shape of a petition from the Woman's Council, composed of one representative from each woman's organization in the city, which was presented to the city council with the earnest request that it be given their most careful consideration.

It is not known how any members of the council regards the petition, as none of them has expressed his opinion, but it is the opinion of many persons who have the best interests of the schools at heart, that the appointment of a woman on the board would be a great step forward in the educational system of Rushville.

What person is there among us more amply fitted to take an active part in directing the affairs of the school city? What person is there who has a better insight into the needs of the schools and who has a better vision of the future in relation to the education of our children?

We may hear some critics of the plan comment that it is no place for a woman—contracts, and all that, and a lot of business details. This, of course, is beyond the point, and no intelligent person is likely to raise such an issue for women, already having attained position in the business world, are about to be placed on an equal footing with men with respect to enfranchisement.

In many states the right of women to have a voice in school affairs has been recognized for many years and they have the privilege of voting on all questions relating to the schools. In Indiana, however, they have been compelled to be content with protesting and nothing more, when the schools where their children are molded into young men and women, have not been managed in a proper manner.

The demand for a woman on the school board is no reflection on the present or any past school boards in Rushville. The Rushville schools have been conducted very well indeed, but there is no denying the fact that the mothers of the thousand school children in Rushville should have representation in an organization which is so vital to them. They are entitled to one of their sex on the board—one with the same inspirations, the same ideals and the same visions as the majority of the mothers of Rushville have for the public schools.

Newspaper Reporting Is Hobby Of Henry J. Allen, A Candidate

Henry J. Allen, governor of Kansas, the first executive in the United States to attempt to put an end to industrial warfare by creating a court to which employees and employers in his state are required to take their disputes and which forbids strikes and lockouts that interfere with essential industry, is probably the only living governor who holds his office through having had it handed to him on a silver platter.

In 1918 when he was on the battlefield of France serving as a Red Cross worker, the Kansas Republicans nominated him for governor. Without having spoken or written a word in behalf of his candidacy, he was elected by an overwhelming majority and did not return to the United States until a short time before the time for being inaugurated.

Before he had been in office a year Governor Allen had called two special sessions of the legislature—one to ratify the suffrage amendment and the other to pass the first industrial court law ever enacted by any state.

During the latter part of 1919 Kansas, like the rest of the nation, was hard hit by the coal strike. Industries were closing, schools were closed and patients in hospitals and state institutions were threatened with much suffering. Governor Allen went to the Southern Kansas coal fields and spent two weeks making speeches and pleading with the miners to work for the state while settling their controversy with the mine operators. The miners flatly refused and even turned a deaf ear to a hospital in Pittsburg, where many of the miners had been cared for.

The governor then took over the mines under a state receivership, sent troops to guard them and called for volunteers to dig coal. Several thousand volunteers responded—most of them ex-service men and college students—and the state began producing coal at once and continued to do so until the strike was settled and all the miners went back to work.

While in Pittsburg, the center of the mining district, Allen called a special session of the legislature for the purpose of passing a law to prevent such strikes as the state was then enduring. The legislature met early in January and passed a law creating the Kansas Court of Industrial Relations, which has jurisdiction over all essential industries and to which employers and employees must take their grievances. The court has the power to take over any industry when the continuity of production is threatened to such an extent that the public would be made to suffer, and it has the power to impose prison sentences on any two or more workers who conspire to strike and tie up essential industries.

This court may take over a labor dispute upon its own motion, upon the request of either employers or employees, or the request of any ten citizen tax payers. Governor Allen's contention is that it gives the laboring man a much better weapon to fight for his rights than the old "strike weapon" because it provides a just tribunal to which the laboring man can go to get relief and guarantees him employment while he is seeking to have grievances corrected. He does not contend that any court has the power to require a man to work when he does not want to work, but asserts that it is within the power of the new Kansas court to forbid men to conspire to work for the purpose of tying up industry and making the innocent public suffer.

Born on a farm and reared on a farm, Allen got his start in the world largely through his own industry and endeavor. In order to complete his education at Baker University, Baldwin, Kas., he worked during his spare time and all through the vacation periods.

An idea of his aggressiveness and his ingenuity may be gained from one of the first real thrills of his life. After leaving Baker University he became manager of the Salina Republican, a newspaper owned by Hon. J. L. Bristow, afterwards United States senator. Allen was managing the Salina Republican in the days of the Populists and the Farmers' Alliance, and the Farmers' Alliance was holding a state political meeting at Salina. It was a secret meeting and the newspapers were unable to get an account of the proceedings. Allen decided that this must be had. He hid himself in the attic of the building and listened in all one night. The next day he had a newspaper "beat" that "scooped" the world. Again he tried to get the news by hiding in the attic, but while listening and making notes, his foot went to sleep and trying to straighten out his leg, he slipped and fell through the ceiling.

This explained to the infuriated Alliance members how the news of their secret meeting was getting out and they threatened to mob the reporter.

"If you are going to do anything to me, all I ask is that you let me write my story first," Allen pleaded, and his devotion to his duty made such an impression on the infuriated farmers that they let him go unmolested.

After leaving Salina, Allen went to Ottawa, Kas., where he ran a newspaper for a year. Then he bought the Wichita Beacon in 1907 and in 1910 built the first "sky-scraper" in Kansas, erecting the 10-story Beacon building at a cost of $435,000. He has built up the Wichita Beacon until it is one of the leading newspapers of the state.

Allen is not a man of hobbies. His friends could not point to a single hobby that he has, and he was asked what he would call his "pet hobby."

"I haven't any hobby that I know of," the governor said, "but I would rather be a good newspaper reporter than anything else, I believe."

Allen began taking an active interest in politics early in his career. He served as private secretary to two governors in the late nineties and was twice a candidate for congress on the Republican ticket. He was a personal friend of Theo-

It was during the war and school children were being taught patriotism and the greatness of their country daily.

The teacher questioned the pupils about the Bible.

"Who made the world?" she asked.

The majority of the children answered God.

"Who was the first man God made?" was the next question.

Here was one that plainly "stumped" every child in the primary grade. They were frankly puzzled. Their faces indicated that.

Finally a little boy, an orphan raised by his aunt, his eyes beaming and with a nod from the teacher, answered in a loud tone of voice "Uncle Sam."

Fire Chief Gets Word to Attend Meeting of Fire Fighters

Frank H. Miller, secretary of the Indiana Fireman's Association has sent Fire Chief Joe Williamson an announcement of their annual meeting which will be held on August 11 and 12 at Ft. Wayne. The local fire chief is the only member in Rushville that is affiliated with the association, and will most likely attend the meeting, going from here as a delegate. The letter from the secretary stated that two important things were to come before the meeting, which will be to petition the state legislature for laws regarding a platoon system for fire departments, and another law which will be of utmost interest for firemen in the smaller cities.

PHILLIPS MAY SET NEW STATE RECORD

Indianapolis News Says Rushville
Sprinter Is Favored For Mile
Run at Lafayette Today

JOHN DAVIS ALSO ENTERED

Herman Phillips and John Davis, two high school students accompanied by Irvin Schultz, track coach, left this morning for Lafayette, Ind., where the two boys are entered in the state high school track and field meeting, which was held this afternoon.

Over 50 high schools in the state will be represented and over 200 athletes will take part in the meet, and several records that have been made in previous years in some of the events, are expected to be broken today, with new records set. Conwell Smith, a member of the team last year, holds the present record for pole vaulting, his mark being 11 feet, one inch. Smith is now in Purdue.

The Indianapolis News last evening stated that the record in the mile run, in which Phillips is entered, is now 4:42 and that the Rushville and Frankfort sprinters are expected to set a new record today. At Connersville last Saturday, Phillips did not have much opposition and took things comparatively easy, making the mile in five minutes, and he is confident of lessening his running time, if he is pinched to do so. Davis will take part in the high jump, having finished in second place in the Connersville meet, which qualified him for entry in the state.

The young couple are making their home at that place.

The members of the senior class, the faculty, and the members of the school board and their wives, of the local high school were royally entertained last evening by the junior class, it being the occasion of the annual junior-senior reception.

The gymnasium of the Graham Annex was beautifully transformed into a flower garden, pink and green being the predominating colors used in the decorations. The ceiling and sides of the room were draped in pink and green paper and intertwined with green haws to give the effect of a garden. Wicker swings were hung from the ceiling and cozy corners made a pretty setting for the affair. Artificial palm trees, ferns and other potted plants were artistically arranged about the gym. In one corner of the building was a brick wall and an old fashioned well from which the honored guests were served with the refreshing drink of punch from the kind of a dipper our grandparents used.

Twenty-five individual tables were used to serve the three course luncheon. They were adorned with pink and green candles with shades to match and quaint place cards carrying out the same color scheme. The luncheon consisted of cherry cocktail, pressed chicken, sandwiches, spring salad, ice cream, strawberries and cake.

A trio of entertainers from Indianapolis, Mr. Neely, singer, Mrs. Ruik, pianist and Miss Haines, reader, rendered a very excellent entertainment during the evening. Mr. Neely who is soloist at the Hotel Lincoln, was very much applauded for his selections and was called back for encores at the end of each number. He was ably accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Ruik. Miss Haines through her charming personality and clever readings, immediately won the attention of the audience.

The junior class deserves all the credit for the success of the evening as it was through their untiring efforts and willingness to help that the event was so well favored by their guests. The pupils also showed their artistic ability through the well and brick wall they built, as it was an exact reproduction of the times of the older generations, and around it centered most of the frivolity of the evening.

The guests departed feeling that they had been excellently honored and expressed their appreciation to the Junior class of 1920.

Mrs. Conrad Posz entertained the members of the Inter Nos club and a few invited guests at her home near Homer Wednesday afternoon. Eight members of the club were present to participate in the regular business meeting and the short program given. Mrs. Albert Updike played a beautiful piano solo, Miss Julia Posz sang several selections and Miss Ethel Posz gave a humorous reading and several piano selections. At the close of the meeting the hostess served light refreshments. The guests at the meeting were Miss Pattie Cassidy of Kentucky, Mrs. Ernest Corrie, Mrs. Charles Cassidy and Miss Lavonne Cassidy.

A Close-Up on the H. C. L. for Kiddies

In Zulaland

It's simply grand

To have a familiee

For children there

Just nothing wear

It's cheap as it can be

But in New York

Abjure the stork—

To dress one child, I fear,

Would wreck the home exchequer quite.

A little dear's too dear.

New York, May 22—With offspring clinging to my hand I started out today to get her all accounted for the coming summer day. Her little heart was full of joy for every woman knows they thrill at even seven years when they are buying clothes.

We hied us to the barber first for hair must be bobbed so, or else the fetching new straw hat won't look just right, you know. Just fifty cents and ten cents tip that hair cut cost. A quarter or fifteen cents when I was young would cut my hair much shorter.

We looked at hats then looked askance for eighteen fifty per. was what a simple leghorn cost. I made a sad demur. A broad rimmed Milan sailor hat, 'twas plain but very nifty, the sales girl said a bargain was at only sixteen fifty. We finally chose a beige lined one quite chic for maids of seven. Because it wasn't quite so fine a straw 'twas but eleven.

Then to the frocks we quickly hied and darlings we espied that each turned out a little dear. Their prices horrified. One tiny frock of taffeta hand worked in colored silk looked for a little princess fit but no one of that ilk could afford its ghastly price of dollars forty-five. I'm sure some laundress lady's child will wear it out to drive.

Some frilly frocks of organdie at twenty-five were cheap—at least that's what the salesgirl said. We didn't even peep. The cheapest gingham frocks were eight, the better ones were ten, of closer weave and "chicer" a simple chambray one of color yellow bright. It only cost a paltry nine—but still it looked all right.

A silken coat at fifty-four we hurried gasping by. A small child's pride must keep her warm when prices are sky high.

A pair of patent leather pumps five dollars set us back and tan play shoes at seven more hit our poor purse a whack.

Some English socks were ninety cents a measly little pair. No wonder fathers live to curse the day they had an heir.

We finished off with cotton gloves, not very chic 'tis true. They cost a dollar and a half while kid cost more than two.

With offspring clinging to my hand I started home today. My child has hat, dress, gloves and shoes but ere the first, I'll say we'll have to sell the family booze the awful bills to pay or else perhaps we'll have to make a hasty getaway.

Weeds — The Tramps of The Garden

A Weed is a Plant Out of Place, but "the Only Good Weed is a Dead Weed"—Weeds Steal Food, Moisture, Air, and Sunlight From the Useful Garden Crops.

(Written for the United States School Garden Army)

A weed is a plant out of place. A carrot growing in a row of onions is a weed. It is out of place. It belongs in a row of carrots. A poppy growing in a row of carrots is a weed. It belongs in a bed of poppies. But most weeds are neither good to eat, like the carrot, nor beautiful to look upon, like the poppy. They are vagrant plants—the tramps of the garden—ready at any time to steal food and moisture, air and sunlight from the useful crops to which the garden belongs.

In most gardens there are vast numbers of weed seeds of many kinds ready to sprout into life whenever there is a chance. So when we plant the garden to radishes or carrots, or lettuce or other crops and wait for these seedlings to appear the eager weed seeds make the most of the opportunity and come up by the thousands. Many of these young weeds are sturdy plants, ready to grow so rapidly that they will crowd out the seedlings we wish to raise. Consequently we must pull up the tramps, roots and all, and cast them on the ground to wither and die.

The process of pulling or otherwise destroying the weeds in the row of seedlings is called weeding. It is one of the most important garden operations, especially in the spring, when so many crops are getting started.

To pull weeds intelligently we should know them by sight and be able to distinguish them from the young seedlings of the crop plants. So if one does not know just how the crop seedlings look be sure to find out before weeding begins.

Weed seeds are easily distributed. Wind and animals help this distribution. In general, weed seeds are very hard to kill. Changes of temperature have little effect upon them. They sprout readily in small amounts of soil and will thrive even under disadvantageous conditions.

To assist in destroying the weeds various small tools called hand weeder are used. They enable one to stir the soil nearer the crop seedlings than can usually be done by the hand. In case the seedlings are to be thinned to several inches apart these weeder can be used to dig out seedlings and weeds together.

NEVER SAW ANYTHING BETTER

For colds that "hang on" and for lingering coughs that follow the "flu," and there is one safe family cough medicine sold from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Mrs. A. B. Griffith, Box 154 Andrews, Ind., writes: "Last winter my family all had the 'flu.' I tried Foley's Honey and Tar and never saw anything better. From now on I will not be without it. I have the house full of children and I don't want to let them suffer from a cold or whooping cough when this reliable remedy can be so easily procured." A. B. Johnson & Co. (Ind.)

SHE FEELS FINE NOW

Aches and pains often indicate kidneys out of order. Your kidneys surely need help and quickly when your hands or feet are swollen and you feel dull and sluggish lose your appetite and your energy and there is a puffiness under the eyes. Mrs. L. Gibson, 12th and Edison St., La Junta, Colo., writes: "My kidneys were giving me a great deal of trouble for some time. I took Foley Kidney Pills and they helped me right away. I feel fine now." F. DUBLIN OFFICIAL REALLY PRISONERS

Police Instead of Protecting People Have to be Protected From The People in Ireland

OFFICERS ARE INTERNED

Naturally Such a Life Involved Severe Mental Strain Upon Officials And Their Families

By WEBB MILLER (U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Dublin, (By Mail)—A situation unparalleled in the chequered history of Ireland exists here today—where the police instead of protecting the people and the officials charged with the government of the country are practically prisoners in the government buildings.

Since the inauguration by the extremist wing of Sinn Féin of the campaign of terrorism the government has been forced to evacuate over three hundred outlying police stations and concentrate their forces in large fortified barracks for defense. This leaves wide areas in the south and west of Ireland without police "protection."

At the same time a number of the higher officials at Dublin Castle are virtually prisoners within the castle for their own protection. Following the murder of two of the castle officials—Alan Bell and Commissioner Redmond—the other higher officials have been forced to take refuge within the castle enclosure. Several have received anonymous warnings that they would be shot if they appeared in public.

Among the officials thus "interned" for their own protection is Sir John Taylor, Undersecretary for Ireland. For more than four months Taylor has not set foot outside the narrow confines of the castle yard, except on a few occasions when he visited the Viceregal Lodge on urgent business. On these occasions he entered an armored-car within the yard and was completely hidden from view in the interior of the car.

Even within the yard the officials do not feel entirely safe because there is always the chance of a sniper's bullet from the buildings surrounding the castle.

Naturally such a life involved a severe mental strain upon the officials and their families. In fact, the Sinn Féiners declare that Ian MacPherson was near a physical breakdown and assert that his resignation was largely due to the campaign of terrorism. When MacPherson left Ireland for the last time, he was driven to the boat at Kingston in an armored-car. The car drove out on the pier just before the plank was hoisted in, MacPherson hurried aboard the boat.

"The Sinn Féiners have spies watching the castle every minute of the day and night," said Sir John Taylor. "At this very moment their spies are stationed outside the castle gate—sometimes they lounge about the street opposite and sometimes they are concealed in the buildings facing the entrance. It is very difficult to catch them, but we know they are there. They have a marvellously organized secret service system. The movements of any government officials to and from the castle are known to them within a few minutes."

"Even my wife and daughter are shadowed when they go on a shopping tour. On a recent occasion they were followed constantly—the shadowers changing several times during the afternoon. They were so frightened they seldom go out now."

Sir John himself has been warned that he would be shot within a hundred yards of the castle on sight.

CAMPAIGN INCLUDES SUMMER RELIEF WORK

Salvation Army Will Need Money For Sick Babies and Mothers During Hot Weather

APPEAL IS NOW BEING MADE

Indianapolis, Ind., May 22.—Special preparations are now being made by the Salvation Army Home Service Department, through its various corps in Indiana cities and towns, for the relief work that is invariably a part of its summer duties.

The welfare workers must be ready to provide ice and milk for sick infants and the babes of sick mothers, and the department is making estimates of the sum that will be needed for this and other necessary items that are in demand every day of the hot months.

"In order to provide the proper foods, medicines and such necessities the home service workers will have to have fund. The Home Service Appeal, which is now in progress in Indiana, will furnish the amounts needed for this work," Major Arthur R. Robinson, chairman of the Indiana Committee in charge of the campaign, explains.

Workers are now conducting an enrollment by practically all counties of the state to raise a fund of $452,000 for the Army's welfare and home serve work. Some of the counties have contributed their quotas for their war chest finances. The American Legion members are backing the appeal as individuals and as members of their organization, Major Robinson said.

MEMORIAL SERVICES AT FT. BENJ. HARRISON

June Sixth Has Been Set Aside For Paying Tribute to The Dead at The Cemetery

THREE TABLEAUX TO BE GIVEN

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., May 22.—Taps will sound and volleys will be fired from soldiers' rifles over the graves of Ft. Benjamin Harrison on June 6 in special memorial services.

The graves will be decorated by women of the Regular Army and Navy Aid Society, and members of other patriotic organizations. They moved the date ahead from Memorial Day in order that representatives of the G. A. R., the Women's Relief Corps, the American Legion, the Spanish-American War Veterans, and other organizations might join them.

A feature of the services will be three tableaux which will represent the "Reaper," "Over There," and "Over Here." Two War Mothers will be given gold stars in memory of their sons who lost their lives in the war.

CARRANZA MAKES WAY TO ANOTHER COUNTRY

Reports Are That He Will Land in U. S. or Cuba Which Will be Satisfactory to Mexico

RATHER HAVE HIM RESIGN

Mexico City, May 22.—Carranza, deposed president of Mexico, plans to make his way to some port, either the United States or Cuba, according to latest reports here.

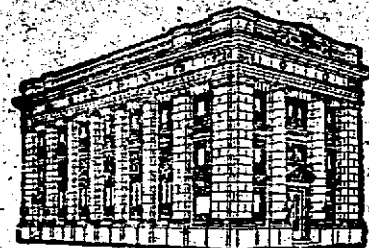

The revolutionary government would not object to the president's escape, it was said, although the revolutionists desired his capture so they could obtain a formal resignation.

The choice of presidential preference for the president of Mexico apparently has dwindled down to two candidates, General Gonzales and Huerta, former governor of Sonora.

American warships lying in the Vera Cruz harbor have been ordered to take aboard President Carranza if he should want a passport to take him to friendly territory.
